yes they gave me pain killers then just shut me off so i was forced to go to street drugs n low n behold papua new guinea is facing a budget crisis that could force the country to seek assistance from the world bank and other foreign lenders to avoid plunging into economic chaos a vast range of human characteristics, from eye and hair color to musical and literary talents, are controlled by genes